Knapen Trailers at IAA Transportation 2026

Knapen Trailers is pleased to announce its participation at IAA Transportation 2026 in Hanover, where the company will be exhibiting as part of a joint stand with its parent company KRONE– a strategic decision to join forces with KRONE at this major event.

For this edition of IAA Transportation, Knapen Trailers will move from its previous location in Hall 25 to a new, prominent location in Hall 27, where visitors can experience an integrated indoor and outdoor exhibition space showcasing the strengths, innovations and solutions of multiple brands.

The collaboration offers several key advantages, including:

- Increased visitor reach and accessibility;
- Broader international visibility for the combined product portfolio;
- A prominent exhibition location;
- Enhanced opportunities for cross-selling and portfolio synergies.

“IAA Transportation is one of the most important meeting points for the transport and logistics industry. By joining forces with all companies and brands from the Krone Group, we can offer visitors an even broader perspective on our combined expertise, products and solutions. We believe this approach creates the best platform to connect with our customers and partners and to demonstrate the value and strength of our group,” says Jandrik Knapen, Managing Director of Knapen Trailers.

Knapen Trailers looks forward to welcoming visitors, customers and partners at IAA Transportation 2026 in Hanover and sharing the company’s latest developments.

About Knapen Trailers Knapen Trailers, part of the Krone Group, is a leading European manufacturer of moving-floor trailers.
